CONSTEPATION. TESTIMONY OF THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF GEORGIA.--I have used Simmons' Liver Regulator for constipation of my bowels, caused by a temporary derangement of the liver, for the last three or four years, and always, when used according to the directions, with decided benefit. I think it is a good medicine for the derangement of the liver—at least such has been my personal experience in the use of it.

A Fight with the Sioux. [From the Hayes City Sentinel.]

learn the particulars of an Indian fight which occurred about four weeks ago in what is known as the "Cone," at the mouth of Saud Creek, about sixty five miles west of Ness Post Office, in which Dr. Tichenor killed four Sioux Indians and was himself wounded. The Doctor and a man named Dickinson were out in that section of the country poisoning wolves, and had built a temporary dug-out in which to store their skins and provisions. A few days previous to the fight Dickinson had taken their team and gone into the settlement after provisions, leaving the Doctor to run the camp. The Doctor was asleep in the dug-out on the morning of the third day of Dickinson's departure, when he was awakened by a slight noise at the door. Thinking the intruder was a skunk or a wolf, he took up his gun and opened the door to be confronted by a man, and that man was a Sioux brave, but at that time it was so dark that he could distinguish little more than the outlines. He demanded his business, when the brave turned and fled; and as the Doctor stepped outside to get a shot at him he was greeted with a volley which drove him back into the dug out. Barricading his door as best he could be awaited daylight. In the meantime, the Indians, numbering about forty, as near as he could tell, had moved further up the creek; but with daylight one of them, whom Tichenor thinks was the chief, from his dress, came to the dug out carrying a white rag, and in broken English demanded his surrender. Tichenor told him there were three men in the dug-out, well armed and prepared to fight, and refused to surrender. The chief commenced to threaten and told the valiant dector he would have his scalp. This the dector thought to be a declaration of war, and shot the red man dead in his tracks and at the very door of the dugout. The entire band then rushed in, but were driven back by several well directed shots. The next manouvre by the assailants was an attempt to smoke him out by burning buffalo chips and the woodwork of the dug-out. From his position in the dug out he could not see the Indian who was superintending the conflagra-tion department, and knowing that if a stop was not put to it he was "a goner," he made man, who was making tracks for his comrades, killing him instantly, and received a bullet through the lower part of his person. This man tell within five feet of his dug out door. Then commenced a long range shooting match, in which the Doctor is confident he killed two more and wounded one. This was kept up during the day, but toward nightfall a terrible snow and wind storm came up, driving the red men to the south and snowing the brave man in. Had it not been for this they would eventually have got him, for his wound, though not dangerous, incapacitated him for fighting. He lay in bed for three days, suffering severely. At the expiration of sixteen days the weather moderated and he started on foot for the set Doctor received several bullets through ais clothing, and during his subsequent stay picked forry bullets out of the walls of the dug out. COUNTY ROADS .- Instead of the present sy tem for the keeping up of county roads, which is both expensive and inadequate, we would like to see the keeping of such reads to repair in each county let to the lowest responsible bidder by the year, the amount due such contractor to be paid out of the general county fund and raised by taxation, and no payment to be made unless such road has been kept in good condition during the time contracted for. By the introduction of this system one reliable man on each county road would be responsible for the good condition of such road, and failure to keep it is order would result in direct pecamary loss. Then we would have Letter roads.
